

In the complex transformation plan released by NNSA, Los Alamos was announced as the preferred alternative facility for the nation's plutonium research, development, and manufacturing; nuclear weapon design and engineering; and supercomputing.

Nuclear weapons complex transformation plan designates Lab for preferred roles